I don't think any of these people have actually ever been present at a birth.

For a start, no doctor records birth on a birth certificate. As a parent, you have six weeks to fill in a form and send it in to the Department, then they send you back the Birth Certificate.

A letter to W ltshire Police Professiona Standards.

[illegible]

On 12th March you wrote to apologise for failing to update me as to the progress of my complaint against Wiltshire Police made in September 2020 who had recorded a clearly malicious report of 'hate speech' against me and refused to remove the recording

You then failed to update me within a further 28 days as you had promised to do and had to send a further email in April. You have since failed to provide me with any update despite emailing my solicitor in March and telling him a decision was 'imminent'. He has contacted you again on the 6th May to seek an update you have failed to respond

I therefore make it clear that I consider that Wiltshire Police are unable or unwilling to provide me with an effective remedy for my complaint and You are not even able to show me the basic

For over a year now I have had a malicious and false complaint recorded on your data base as a 'fact'. This was announced publicly by the malicious complainant online causing harm to my reputation and my emotional health. I now no longer feel I can trust the Wiltshire Police to respond fairly to me if I am a victim of harassment or abuse.

My current application for permission to judicially review the College of Policing guidance has been stayed pending the outcome of the appeal in Miller v College of Policing. If my application is allowed to continue following that judgment then I shall request that Wiltshire Police are no longer 'interested parties' but respondents to my application.

Regards

There are people from all over the political spectrum who object to this ideology. The radical feminism movement, who have been warning of this since the 70s, are deeply left. This issue transcends politics.

This is where uncritical acceptance of a theory has led the University of Abertay As an establishment where critical thinking should take place, you are found wanting. Speaking the truth is now a crime for the one who speaks it & impossible for UOA to argue for or against.

It's time for all universities to take a close look at what they have signed up to and consider whether the restrictions imposed on them by gender theory (theory remember not fact) is worth the angst and the court costs that may well be on their way

This is very similar toAustralia's ABC, that to date has not made a SINGLE mention of Keira Bell, or any criticism of gender ideology or its impact on women and children. None. It's all puff pieces and "brave and stunning" and child drag queens called "Candy Featherbottom".

"Put simply, students are free to express any lawful views they wish to, as long as this is not done in an intolerant or abusive way."

Since certain factions consider the term, "biolog cal sex" as hate speech, not sure how much comfort this provides re Lisa Keogh case.

Thanks @SatraPeach for bringing this to our attention - as a taxpayer, I'm delighted to see the priorities of privileged youngsters having a government-subsidised university experience during a global pandemic, and while our tertiary education sector is being decimated.

Of all of the really serious issues in the world that need addressing, the "gendering" of mensuration shouldn't be taken seriously for a second.

Ensuring all women around the world have access to sanitary pads & health is more important to me to disruption, including alleged violence[68]. These widely known background facts supported an inference that there was a high risk that disruption would occur

A wholly unacceptable flyer was circulating which contained a violent and profane threat targeted directly at Prof Phoenix ([redacted]). I unequivocally reject the evidence given to me that this flyer amounted to no more than teenage stupidity, and I find it surprising that once its existence was brought to the University's attention no timely investigation was undertaken into who had produced and circulated it. The University has a statutory duty to use disciplinary procedures where appropriate to enforce the provisions of its freedom of s[redacted] 68 policy (§159 above). Whilst [redacted] did not know about the flyer in any detail when [redacted] made the decision to cancel the seminar, it forms an important part of the factual matrix and it exemplifies the volatility of the situation. Its existence was known to at least one other member of senior leadership, who had fed into the reports given to [redacted] about the threat level.

I think we expect food to be a pleasure instead of a function. School dinners in the 60s/70s were grim with absolutely no choice. Its a different mindset to the one now where we worry about finding food children like & enjoy. It may sound kind but it's not necessarily healthy.

I went to boarding school for 6 years in the 90s - one memorable night was a “chew and spew Tuesday” - grey-green sludge with white rice with a fist-sized lump in the serving dish that turned out to be gristle. As a result, I’ll pretty much eat anything.

It is starting appear as if the era of smearing, defaming and deplatforming female academic scholars who hold gender critical views, simply wish to defend women's sex-based rights or advocate for reality-based language, is coming to an end in the UK.

Today's lunacy from the Woke Side: Australia's #1 University of Melbourne are flexing their righteous activist muscles by fighting for menstruation to be "degendered". Because it's not your sex that determines periods, it's feelings. Apparently.

That s why said that it s unlikely to be a binary outcome.
/Having GC views would likely be ruled as protected, but someone deciding that they need to express them and cause trouble for trans coworkers would not be protected

Laura Green @LauraGr31918310 · May 18

In other words, you believe the original judgment will be overthrown, and Maya s position entirely vindicated I don t really understand why you don t think that's a "binary outcome"

liker of rabbits @queershitposter · May 19

Because the degree to which GC beliefs are protected is not binary.
Forstater claimed she "reserved the right" to express her GC views at work, and such expression will be a point of contention in the judgement

The problem is that “GC views” are that biological sex exists, humans are either male or female, and sex matters, all of which is true. Will they be telling people you cannot state facts about material reality?

Bingo. That's what happens when activists are allowed to draft legislation - the wording is extraordinary and like nothing I've ever seen before. It's Australia's version of "Stonewall Law" except it's gotten so far as to be enacted (that will happen next year).

It's like watching a slow moving train wreck. I'm quite astonished at the cavalier attitude and juvenile response to what are serious potential risks for litigation for organisations and institutions.

> We're setting sail to the place on the map

So you are demanding we believe you about your "gender"? What is "gender" in your opinion? And what is it about your "gender" the world must believe?

I've been cognisant of my SEX pretty much since I can remember, I am a female.

So you believe that gender is incontrovertibly linked to your chromosomes & genitalia & you cannot conceive an alternative view based on the lived experience of thousands who say otherwise. Your Cisgender privilege must be a wonderful thing, sadly these children cannot share it.

That is precisely the position that the males with a trans identity argue for their inclusion - wanting validation and feeling excluded. Female athletes are arguing on the basis of observable male biological advantage. Don't her feelings count in garnering public support?

Is it me, or is this an admission by Stonewall that they knowingly misrepresent the law (but they say it's fine anyway)? I hope one of the legal minds is going to take a look at this

Is Stonewall's advice robust and correct?

Yes it is. Our advice is based on the Equality and Human Rights Commission's Equality Act Code of Practice, which was recently reaffirmed in the High Court.

There have been several reports that suggest we are misinterpreting the Equality Act's protected characteristic of gender reassignment in our guidance and advice to organisations.

In most contexts, gender identity is an appropriate, inclusive, and well understood term, so … In line with the UK Government and with international standards – we talk about gender identity in our everyday communications. Similarly, when we describe the Equality Act's protected characteristic of 'gender reassignment' we refer to 'gender identity' to explain who is covered by the law and how they are protected, as the EHRC does in their Code of Practice.

Finally, as part of our work with employers we acknowledge that there has been a lack of clarity around non-binary identities within the current legal framework. However, the recent Taylor v Jaguar Land Rover employment tribunal found that non-binary and gender fluid people are protected by the Equality Act. For employers who wish to go above and beyond the law in creating inclusive workplaces, we suggest that internal policies could refer to 'gender identity' as a term that more clearly includes all trans, non-binary and gender diverse people.

You cannot just impute meaning to the law to suit yourself, and redefine words that are defined in law. This breaks so many principles of statutory interpretation I can't even deal.

When we did the WA consultation process we heard from both sides about the socia mpacts of either decision (inclusion vs exclusion). These are real and they exist, but sports categories are biology not soc al, & sport doesn't exist to validate identities

2 1 16

Ross Tucker @Scienceofsport May 23

Or rather to put a finer point on t, sports categories exist to reward specific attributes of physiology within categories so that females can be celebrated as equa to males. It doesn't exist to va idate males who dentify as women so the social arguments for me are weak

1 2 21

Ross Tucker @Scienceofsport May 23

At best the social arguments cancel out because of the rights of women to have fairness & safety, and the rights of trans women to self identify But I think we explained quite well that sport, as a space, cannot balance these, nor should t So ultimately, they're a 'wash

1 1 12

Graham Vivian @grahamvivian May 23

Elite sport I buy and accept your argument However most sport is about participation, not all about who wins. What I was referring to is the psychological mpacts on trans woman who are not accepted for how they chose to dentify Disagree. It absolutely is about competition! Why should girls have to give up the thrill of victory to validate a male's inner feelings about his gender? No.

ImagineSand - Woman, Biological Female @Imagine123 · 2h

Opportunities for girls start before elite level, their chances to compete at county or national level are determined by results at local level. If this involves competing against biological boys those opportunities will never materialise

Graham Vivian @grahamvivian · 2h

I do understand that argument which is why I said I battle with where the line should be. It is a complex matter, just want people to also understand the physiological impacts on trans woman as well. It isn't an either or situation. Both need to be considered is all I am saying

Sorry, the psychological impact on girls being sidelined in their own sports takes precedence. One male competitor has the ability to steal the opportunities from many girls.

@4corners is a serious, investigative journalism show on Australia's publicly-funded @ABCaustralia . They are not allowing comments critical of the medical transitioning of children.

Thanks for your involvement and perspective The 60 Min piece was very problematic.

For me, Problematic because it was not balanced or highly researched. It seemed to be anecdotal and meandering its lesson of more medical involvement earlier in the process rather than less by legislative banning of care was unclear

Don’t you worry about that! Australia remains a bastion of medicalising children....this obsequious pro-trans piece should do the trick for you. Looks like the pro-trans side is just as guilty of “bias” and being “anecdotal and meandering”.

What sort of “women” are we talking about? Adult human female types? Or those women who “identify as women”? Sure seems like it’s the former. Just saying.

"explain" homosexually to their kids are liars. I've known a lot of kids. They assume all relationships are legit. What you have to explain is what's off limits - like why they can't marry their mother, cousin, or dog.

That is ridiculous. My eldest two are seven and they make vomit noises whenever my husband and I kiss or hug. At this stage, they think all relationships are gross. We have LG people in our lives who are married or de facto or dating. We don't make a big deal of it.

Some people think this sort of senate committee questioning is a stunt, but repeated "stunts" of this sort, that produce embarrassment, are right now the only way to force them to reconsider and change the AG guidelines

swanalien @swanalien 27m

As Chandler is a member of the Coalition, shouldn't she be able to pressure Morrison and Cash to change the guidelines? Any sense of that happening outside this senate questioning?

swanalien @swanalien 21m

My cynical take on this: the LNP base will (rightly) see the existing guidelines as progressive overreach allowing the LNP to score points.

The government could change the guidelines, but won't (too hard) but will continue to point to them as anti-woman (which they are)

I'm asking for longitudinal...we know that people experience "gender euphoria" that lasts months to years. Blaming their problems on failure to affirm or lack of acceptance is also an assumption. Critical error.

Why was T (gender dysphoria) joined to LGB (homosexuality) in the first place?

Roz Vecsey @Vecsatious 15h

And the T was added for one reason, money In the UK Stonewall, the main LGB lobby group had nothing left to advocate for as LGB rights seemed sorted so they added the T to attract more funding and suddenly every LGB org were compelled to add the T

Women are tired of having to make sacrifices and bear the burden of trans and gender identity ideology, it has adverse implications for us. but no one included us in these changes the expectation is that we would just simply budge up and concede. No. We won't.

Dora the Transformer @PandoraSylvana 32s

Using inclusive language ensures that transgender men, who may menstruate, are not deterred from getting the help that they need. Health providers using the phrase 'people who menstruate' in this specific way does not require any 'sacrifice' from anyone

They don't really care about the well being of people who might need this health care, they just want to play word games and attack trans people.

51% of the population refuse to be reduced to body parts & processes some women do not know they have ovaries, don't THEY count? It's not us playing word games, & failing to d sclose your sex to a hea th care provider has mplications, why should women pay the price for that?

Women are tired of having to make sacrifices and bear the burden of trans and gender identity ideology, it has adverse implications for us, but no one included us in these changes, the expectation is that we would just simply budge up and concede. No. We won't.

As ever, GC types revert to generalities and abstract talk of erasure rather than address the matter in hand. Using inclusive language in the context of specific healthcare provision helps ensure that healthcare is taken up by ALL those who need it and causes no harm to anyone

Dora the Transformer @PandoraSylvana 24m

Trans men may well not want to take up the healthcare and support they need if in order to do so they have to be referred to as women at every step of the process. Inclusive language in these specific areas addresses this problem at absolutely no cost to anyone else.

Cis women regularly getting a period is relatively rare, historically. Up until like 150 yrs ago most cis women only got it a handful of times because they were always pregnant and/or did not have the body fat to menstruate. Earlier male doctors sometimes argued menses was a myth

Not all women could had children though. Though not as common as today, infertility did exist back then. There were plenty of high class women who dealt with this or only had one kid like Mary, Queen of Scots and Mary Tutor, Elizabeth I etc.

The Bradenberg trials are a great example of this. The Nazi Wife Grudge case in particular - the judge was put on trial for prosecuting a man under Third Reich law, but it offended human rights so those that brought and prosecuted complaints were tried post-WW2.

Dear Sir/Madam,

Re. Freedom of Information Request

Thank you for your Freedom of Information request and your interest in the University of Bedfordshire. Please find our response below

Request

I am writing to request an internal review of University of Bedfordshire's handling of my FOI request 'Information about your dealings with Stonewall #DontSubmitToStonewall'

I have followed up my original request of 7th Feb 2021 with monthly "chasing" emails to no avail. I just get an acknowledgment of receipt nothing more

Response

In response to your FOI request, we do not have dealings with Stonewall

If you are not satisfied by the way we have handled your request, you can request a review by writing to the Senior Legal Officer

If you are unhappy with the way the University handles your request through our appeals process, you have a right to appeal to the Information commissioner at: The Information Commissioner's Office Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow Cheshire SK9 5AF Tel 08456 306060 or 01625 545745 or alternatively visit their website at www.ico.gov.uk

Yours sincerely

It's grossly insulting to impose ideologically fabricated categories on the woman, a proud butch Lesbian, who started the Stonewall riot. Being a butch Lesbian I doubt she identified with female sex stereotypes of the time. Your categories don't make sense.

Tokyo could turn tide for sex-based rights in sports

BARBARA KAY

There are nine trans athletes hoping to compete at the Tokyo Olympic and Paralympic Games this summer. All of them — whether born male or female — are seeking spots on women's teams (transgenderism is a non-issue in men's sport).

Only one of the nine is assured a berth: New Zealand weightlifter Laurel Hubbard, now 43, who made her first lift in international women's sport in March 2017, and will compete in the over-87 kilogram "women's super-heavyweight" category, which is scheduled for Aug. 2.

This Olympic first should be a triumphant moment for the trans rights movement. Unfortunately, some uncomfortable optical burrs clinging to Hubbard's story have the potential to turn a personal victory into a defeat for liege who previously competed in men's weightlifting was not a good look on Hubbard. International etiquette barbarie voiced protest, but the image of Stowers head bowed in second-place humiliation on the podium spoke volumes.

Inside the Games is an Olympic news website, which is not associated with any political agenda. In May Mark House, an American attorney and International Weightlifting Federation official, published a measured, well-considered essay in it, titled, She Qualified Fair and Square. But Here Is Why Laurel Hubbard Should Not Compete at Tokyo 2020. His thesis: Hubbard's "participation will seriously diminish the chances of having a rational discussion about transgender policies. She should not take her opportunity."

House first notes that as David Hubbard lift a 300-kilogram total in the

"the fact that men should not be competing in women's sports," writes House. To believe that average sports fans will view such a spectacle through a lens of gender theory and a principle of inclusion over fairness is delusional.

Unfortunately, the rules that allow Hubbard to qualify are themselves delusional and unfair. The current transgender international Olympic Committee (IOC) policy sets the conditions that, first, the athlete "has declared that her gender identity is female," which for sporting purposes cannot be changed for four years. In Canada, an athlete may change identity at will, even from season to season, under guidelines set by the Canadian Centre for Ethics in Sport.

Second, the athlete must demonstrate that her total testosterone level in serum has been below 10 nanomoles per litre for at

THE RULES THAT ALLOW HUBBARD TO QUALIFY ARE THEMSELVES DELUSIONAL

House plausibly envisages one of these nations coercing "second-tier male athletes to declare their gender as female, comply with the 10 nmol/L rule and dominating the women's events. With the requirement of sex reassignment surgery removed, the athlete could compete as a woman for a couple of Olympic cycles, then stop taking the suppression therapy after winning for a decade." Think it could not happen? Try to think like Russian President Vladimir Putin.

When Hubbard dashed Feagaiga Stowers' justified expectations in 2019, Mata'afa Keni Lesa, editor of the Samoa Observer newspaper, was incensed. He wrote: "We are talking about sports here. One of the values of sport is fairness. We cannot say that allowing a transgender to compete against women is fair. It is grossly unfair for women like Stowers, or all women, for that matter." He added: "We talk a lot about empowering women, (but) this does not empower women if anything, it is taking power away from

The fight for equality is won through building solidarity & winning hearts & minds. Stonewall is setting it back by misrepresenting equalities law to the detriment of women & likening gender-critical feminists to anti-Semites. I hope it reconsiders.

The passage of time doesn't mean automatic improvement or progress. Many things have regressed quite substantially since 1988. Also, n 1988 we wouldn't have been treated to Sally's pub c musings which would be a d stinct mprovement on the present.

> Sally Hines @sa y h nes

I think they are quite used to getting their way and expecting women to be accommodating. It comes as rather a shock when women say no. Or that women's rights are not theirs to give away. Kind of proves the point.

this essentially means that as long as a male declares his feelings, dress, speech and mannerisms are "female" this part will be satisfied, and leaves the uncomfortable sense that being "female" is really based on the performance of regressive stereotypes 13/

Further the declaration of a female gender identity cannot be changed "for sporting purposes, for a minimum of four years" (pt. 2.1). This means that the gender identity can be changed after four years, and for non-sporting purposes. 14/

I'm not convinced that a male winning in an obscure sport will do it. It'll need to be something that can finally crack the mainstream press in the Western world. A team stacked w/obvious transwomen beating the media darlings from the USA women's soccer team would do the trick.

If Hubbard does get on the podium, I'll bet you a brewsie that in the Western press, the overwhelming coverage will be that Hubbard is a trailblazing hero as opposed to a male interloper in women's sports. I shudder to think of the NBC glowing coverage of it.

The IOC has talked about a 'human rights approach given the science doesn't stack up Lobbying for this has been pretty intense n a sense I agree People shouldn t medicate to compete. Given females have human rights too the solution is clear open and female categories.

Cathy Devine @cathydevine56 5h

I am actually optimistic that in the end this is where we will get to. The question is how long will it take for the IOC to recognise women have human rights too. And how many women will lose out on life changing medal/podium/sponsorship opportunities in the meantime

1 10

Cathy Devine @cathydevine56 5h

The argument that medicating to compete transgresses human rights of TW is also interesting given TW on therapeutic medication achieve T levels way below 5nmols/l which is where we thought the IOC would settle

FAIR PLAY FOR WOMEN

IPSO Resolution Statement
03148-21 Williams v The Times

"Hormone therapy cannot change biological sex"

Corrections and clarifications

In an article on the 2021 census we wrongly referred to "transgender patients who may opt for long-term hormone therapy to change their biological sex". Doctors who treat people with sex and gender identity issues point out that hormone therapy cannot change biological sex. We also reported that statisticians were concerned that census questions on sex, trans status and sexual orientation could distort figures on issues such as illnesses specific to men and women. We have been asked to make clear that these concerns expressed to us specifically by guidance that the sex question could be answered with a gender identity

My GF doesn't shave her legs. (32M/30F)

Now, I completely understand that she shouldn't "have" to. It's her body and her choice.

The thing is though, is that it is a huge turn off for me. My libido goes from 100 to 0 in an instant. It has actually gotten to the point where I am actively avoiding sex with her because I don't want to see or touch her leg hair.

I also understand that I am an asshole for feeling this way. I certainly feel like one.

I want to bring it up to her, but I don't want to hurt her feelings. On the other hand, by not saying something I'm hurting her feelings by avoiding sex (as evidenced by a conversation we had today).

so uhh, what do i do? I don't want to make her do something she doesn't want to, but it...just really turns me off. thanks in advance.

And Gymnastics Australia has just implemented policies that allow males into the change rooms, toilets and overnight accommodation with girls and women. All they have to do is "identify as a woman". The cognitive dissonance is mind blowing Pride in Sport, Pride in Diversity (workplace) and Pride in Health & Well-being. ACON has been very busy being paid by the government to lobby govt, private/health/law/education sectors, so members can then pay to embed the ideology for them, and then get assessed for compliance.

@ScottMorrisonMP what are you doing to ensure federal law prevents this from happening? Females in Australia have protected sex based rights Australia is a signatory to the UN on the rights of women You need to act asap

Chili @chillijellybeans 2h
I m trying to find what are our sex based rights are in Australia and I'm falling short. Can you possibly direct me to the legislation? We have non discrimination laws based on sex and gender identity.

But the idea of "sex based rights" isn t mentioned anywhere?

It's an offence and affront to women to demand that we indulge and include a person who performs parodies of feminine stereotypes usually while acting like an entitled male. No self-respecting woman is going to "be kind" about that.

Do any of these debates address a fundamental question which has to be: "what is the definition of a trans man/woman?" Its a genuine question and one I cant find any serious discussion on, especially from a legal perspective

Bingo. There is no way to explain it except by stereotypes and feelings. While someone should not be discriminated against for performing opposite sex stereotypes, there is no presumption that gender identity must displace sex whenever sex is relevant.

6500 differences between male and female, 3000 of which are observable. Funnily enough, women are able to see beyond the performance of sex stereotypes to clock someone's sex. 50 years of gender theory don't overcome 2M years of human evolution.

Reducing women to a subset of their own biological sex category is offensive and ideological. Gender reinforces sex-based stereotypes, and declaring you have a "gender identity" is merely a performance of those stereotypes.

My favourite bit s perhaps the 'framing "sex" as immutable & binary' that's supposed to go counter decades of medical scholarsh p

> As numerous scholars and activists have documented, those espousing gender critical perspectives routinely make transphobic, discriminatory, inaccurate, and harmful claims about trans people specifically, and gender more broadly, that have profoundly negative effects on social and political life Their unfounded viewpoints are inimical to intersectional feminisms and scholarly debate, and they contribute to the ongoing "anti-gender" attacks on the field In refusing the concept of gender, and in framing "sex" as immutable, binary, and essentialist, the gender critical perspective runs counter to decades of scholarship from across the social sciences, humanities, and medical fields, and it relies on and invests in racist, colonial understandings of sex/gender

In Nazi Germany, did people make excuses like that, or were there other reasons? When I see, for example, misogyny from women, I know that they really think and feel so I can try to help them take off their rose-colored glasses, but they have to make the decision for themselves

I'm not making excuses. To become an elite athlete requires extraordinary sacrifice and dedication. Why should those women have to step away from competing because men are making unreasonable demands on them? The onus is on those men to prove why they should be included.

No, I answered someone presumed to belong to, or to have belonged to, the class of people assumed to take a passive position in sex, and a reproductive role in the economy.

Theinternetisadumpsterfire @Theinternetisa4 Jun 17

My point is that the root of our disagreement occurs right at the very beginning at what constitutes a woman. I was born a natal female. This was determined in utero. Every experience I've had since birth has been coloured by this fact. For me, no other reality exists

1 20

Grace Lavery: PLEASE MISS available for pre-order! @grace Jun 17

I understand that. I didn't know, until today, what a big part the "always already" plays in these convos. For me, anything material can be altered. By definition. Sex is either material (and thus changeable), or immaterial. I am surprised to learn how many GCs think the latter

Women are not a "definition". No matter how much you try to obfuscate and contort language, nothing will change the fact that humans cannot change sex.

I did reread it earlier this year…I found Winston's neighbour's kids denouncing their parents to be a particularly terrifying and prescient subplot.

This issue transcends bipartisanship, it is an authoritarian movement and we all must unite against it, even if there are other issues we disagree on.

You apologize for what comment?
Are you asking is Transhumanism a conspiracy? That would be like suggesting capitalism is a conspiracy. It's happening right out in the open. Lots of ppl talking abt it & writing abt it, predicting it is inevitable & putting gobs of $ into it

Juravle George @JuravleGeorge 11h
This sounds like an conspiracy but this is true
Transhumanism is more than body dissosiation movement

Yes it is. Body dissociation as a human rights movement is just to get us comfy with the rest.

We should not have to constantly reshare our trauma to have credible opinions. I have written a paper arguing for a statutory tort of domestic violence in the context of family law. DV is overwhelmingly committed by males against women, children & other males. It is a fact.

It is bad enough that so many believe things without any evidence. What is worse is that some people have no conception of evidence & regard facts as just someone else's opinion Please read the PASK link above or have you already blocked contraindicating evidence & dissent

There can be no credible controversy about the power of parents to influence children

A few dishonest feminist academics pretend the strawman argument of discrediting PAS as a unique psychiatric syndrome denies the existence of PA

Austlii confirms PA is not debunked or unlawful

The Olympics and the IOC
Do you really think your world audience wants to see fully grown males standing on the podium having beaten their female competition?

Do you really want certain large countries with state sponsored sports programmes to turn up with women's teams stuffed with male bodied athletes? (if not in 2020, a most certainly in 2024).

HelenB @scrumpyh3 24 Nov 2019

Your website promotes programmes to encourage girls to be active and take up sports do you think they will find encouragement in seeing trans women usurp their places in teams and individual competition?

or will they think that it is not worth bothering thus decimating sport for girls and women?

To be fair to females. if an intersex person has been brought up as a girl / woman but is then found to have a Y chromosome and is producing male levels of testosterone then the XX qualification should still apply.

NZ women take to the courts to fight for their human rights.

One has to wonder, what exactly is so dangerous about the ideas that these women want to discuss?

Please consider supporting their legal action.

I will blame the men that abuse, rape and kill women, children and other men. To pretend that domestic abuse is not overwhelmingly perpetrated by MALES fundamentally fails to address the problem. And why are you expecting WOMEN to "cooperate" and fix the problem?

Here s the domestic abuse crime statistics from England and Wales for 2020

Perhaps that puts a different perspective on your rant?

- the Crime Survey for England and Wales showed that an estimated 2.3 million adults aged 16 to 74 years experienced domestic abuse in the last year (1.6 million women and 757,000 men), a slight but non-significant decrease from the previous year
- the police recorded 758,941 domestic abuse-related crimes in England and Wales

And here in California, same policy is being pushed through here in Australia. Do you think Australian male prisoners are any better behaved than male rapists in US or UK?

Many of them don't even have GD - the IOC Consensus simply requires a declaration of female identity for sporting purposes for four years and the reduction in testosterone for 12 months. That's it.

A chronology will help you fight this - times, dates, witnesses, calls to police, response from authorities etc. It will really help if all of that information is clearly documented, and you might remember details or other important things you may have forgotten.

That even ONE woman or girl is suffering needless distress to assuage an accused criminal male's subjective feelings about himself is one too many. Not to mention the possible legal implications of being compelled to lie on the stand to save someone's feelings.

I think, also, Australia has two issues: it's quite a macho culture, quite male-centred, but also very much on its way to republic-like status, a young country (in both cases, by comparison with the UK). Those two drivers, misogyny & progressivism, intersect in this issue

I had a meeting with two other residents this morning to check them out if they've kept records of events. Two took AVO's out on urgent advice from police. They made statements. One of the residents with an AVO has moved out this weekend to save her sanity. But we'll try to map.

Katherine Deves @katherine_deves Jun 20

A chronology will help you fight this. Times, dates, witnesses, calls to police, response from authorities etc. It will really help if all of that information is clearly documented, and you might remember details or other important things you may have forgotten

The idea that a man would go through multitudinous medical appointments and possible interventions, would relinquish privileges, would open themselves up to unnecessary ridicule and discrimination just to gain access to women's spaces is ludicrous. No cis man would ever do that.

I hear many British feminists particularly talking about the dangers of this, but almost never about how it has actually been dangerous. Trans women are not a threat to women, or to feminism

Lesbian bars have closed in australia too. Queer bookshops have closed. Gay (male) bars have closed
Their reasons for doing so have got nothing to do with trans people. They're just not economically viable

Joanna infuriates me a bit because in some respects, JH is pretty rational and honest about the limitations on the 2015 data. But JH just can't quite get over the line in admitting what JH knows to be true - it's not possible to include fairly on the basis of gender ID

Not 100% certain, but I think 'conversion therapy' is asking 'are you sure you want to fuck up your life?', is illegal in Victoria. ACL are prob exaggerating a bit. This is what I fear. The Right can use this issue as a battering ram against the Left, even against the Centre.

It's not surprising that the people outraged over Laurel Hubbard becoming the first trans person to qualify for the Olympics were nowhere to be found when Caster Semenya, a cis woman, was essentially banned from competition over her natural hormone production

You haven't read the decision, have you Charlotte? Bodies play sport, not identities. Caster's condition means Caster is biologically male, and has an unfair biological performance advantage over females, this is clearly explained in great detail in the decision.

The guidelines for trans inclusion at the Olympics have been thoughtfully studied, created and implemented, which is partly why no transgender person has ever competed at the Olympics. The standards are incredibly high.

I'll be rooting for Laurel Hubbard as she makes history.

If the IOC removes the testosterone requirement in the anticipated revision of the IOC gender diverse consensus, and allows males to compete on nothing more than a declaration of "female gender identity" for four years, males like Teifer will be competing against women and girls.

Fortunately for female American track athletes, Telfer could not get they's testosterone level down to 5 mol/L and is ineligible to tryout for US Olympic team.

It's an absolute betrayal of women and girls that our category was destroyed on the basis of a male's demands and an absence of evidence. We now HAVE evidence to demonstrate male performance advantage, yet the IOC has chosen to disregard it.

A shame they felt obliged to refer to 46XY persons as "female" in that report. More accurate + less confusing to state that in a biological sense they are "male", with T levels that align more with "males" than "females" (albeit they are less responsive to its effects).

The Vice Chancellor of the Open University has messaged all staff saying that while he's in favour of 'debates , he would censor a research network that understands the differences between men and women because it causes harm', but can t because of a pesky thing called the law'

Dear Colleagues,

Our University is not only a place of open debate but should be an exemplar of how to have these debates, bringing the standards of inquiry we have as an academic institution not just into our own conversations but taking them out into wider society.

They have manufactured a presumption that gender identity takes precedence over sex where sex is relevant. No Australian case law or statute supports that assertion.

It bloody doesn't. Read General Recommendation 28 in 2010 - it is explicit on gender identity protections only pertaining to biological females, not males

forwomen.scot @ForwomenScot 6h
They are arguing that because CEDAW also covers discrimination pertaining to gender roles, it therefore covers anyone anyone who adopts those roles. It is frankly, bonkers. Worrying ly, the judge concurred with some of this.

Where exactly does CEDAW cover gender roles?

forwomen.scot @ForwomenScot 5h
It is a really odd twisty logic but they seem to be relying on a deliberate misreading of General principle 28 para 5

Katherine Deves @katherine_deves 5h
It's absolutely clear that biological females cannot be discriminated against on basis of gender identity, as expressly differentiated from biological males!! How on earth did they manage to misinterpret that?!?

In Australia, it's only in last few years they have established an Australian Rules football comp for women at senior levels It has exploded Women and girls have embraced it But the pride/LGBT movement have really grasped onto it also and a TW wanted to play the problem

Is that the women can't speak out about it because the circles and supporters of the code are all very 'woke' They'd be immediately labeled terfs. In the end the TW did not get to play at senior level. But am so mad for those women without a space and a voice.

Apparently Cece Telfer suffers disadvantage in hurdles due to their height of 6'2" because of "wind resistance"

Fortunately for female American track athletes, Telfer could not get they's testosterone level down to 5 mol/L and is ineligible to tryout for US Olympic team.

Any self-identified "feminist" movement that includes and centres males is not feminist, by definition.

I doubt your founders had this in mind when they fought so hard in the second wave, what an utter betrayal of all they stood for.

You can only compete as a “transwoman” if you are a biological male. So how does TWAW work here?

> Mermaids @Mermaids_Gender
> This is a great step forward from the Olympics committee to show inclusion and diversity to show trans women are women and can compete as women. Policies have been in place since 2004 and it has taken till 2021 to see this major step for inclusion and equality.

If sports transactivists get their way the testosterone requirement will be removed for IOC requirements because of the burden of hormone reduction/treatment and surgery on adult male bodies.

How will @Mermaids_Gender support that sex self-id if it's pushed through...

#14 is a discretionary position offered to either the host country or a country that does not have a competitor that made the cut for rankings (#1-8) or the five continent positions (#9-13). Iran's Parisa Jahanfekrian was NIL. Women's weightlifting in Iran allowed in 2017.

It is perhaps confusing that GC feminists identify with the left, but it's not particularly relevant. There's little room between a UK GC feminist celebrating Tavistock and the Arkansas GOP on trans rights. In fact, the GOP governor of Arkansas is to the left of the GC movement.

9 22 147

Julia Carrie Wong @juliacarriew 22h

The idea that gender critical feminism is being suppressed is patently absurd on its face. Every poll shows that it is a minor minority view among UK feminists, yet it is championed ceaselessly by the UK press to the exclusion of trans and trans-inclusionary feminist voices

7 64 233

Julia Carrie Wong @juliacarriew 22h

It's not unusual for reactionary politics to adopt a stance of victimhood, even as they successfully strip away at the civil rights of the marginalized groups they target. It's part of the strategy

Yesterday I criticised totalitarian forces who have draped themselves in rainbow flags but instead of promoting tolerance, they're censoring and abusing women, targeting children and blackmailing institutions into supporting their self-identification, reality-denying ideology.

We all know testerone have a big impact on performance. Normal range for men is 9.2 to 32.8 nmol/L and for women it is like 0.3 to 2.4nmol/L if I am not mistaken. Now, males can compete against women if they have a value under 10nmol/L for 12 months. Not Fair

Even if male's testosterone was 0 due to suppression or other effects, their bodies have masculinised at puberty, and even without that, the Y chromosome carries genes that give enduring sporting advantages in terms of height, muscle, heart etc. No males in women s sport, period.

I am constantly perplexed by women actively contributing to their own oppression. It's "pick me" feminism....punch down on other women so the boys can see you are "one of them" and you might avoid their wrath. It's a survival strategy that will end up backfiring on them.

The media could not be played.

You are not doing yourself any favours. When you say this out loud it does not sound to women, parents and society what it sounds like in your head. For example, please say that to the face of the father of my daughters - a 6'3" ex-cop tradesman.

I went to a girls boarding school, it was a magnet for perverts. It started at about 12 and was a very regular occurrence throughout school and as a young woman. I've lost count how many times, but I haven't lost the memory of the feeling of being betrayed and violated.

It s really strange to me how anyone can pretend this is not common knowledge. At school we had a perve so persistent we had a name for him. Mr Revolting. He was on the tram every sing e day. He used to target my friend who ws very shy & quiet & had a submissive body anguage.

However, there has been some progress made around clarity of data collection by the ABS where sex must be male or female as based on biological sex, but they can't help themselves and they have the "non-binary sex" option as well.

Well yes, but that's what it it is to "think critically"...be able to consider the article, the source, the writer, the references and evaluate for yourself based on the wealth and breadth of knowledge you have acquired over years from reading and learning widely.

Bernard "made up identity" Flesh @Bernard_Flesh · Jun 29

There is a space set out for one type of person, explicitly to exclude another type of person. for my daughter the traumatizing issue would be being undressed in front of a male bodied person, she wears head to toe baggy clothes to avoid the male gaze even as it is.

1 · 11

Bernard "made up identity" Flesh @Bernard_Flesh · Jun 29

She is already freaked out by the hypersexualization of her body by society, reducing that (even by a small part) by segregating the space into one where people share the same body type is important.

Laurie Penny @PennyRed · Jun 29

I'm sorry your daughter is going through a hard time. And I understand that she might have particular needs. but might it not be possible to balance those needs along with trans women's right to be included in public spaces and be free from harassment?

Pip Cooper @Pix18 · Jun 29

It is possible. 3rd spaces.
Why not campaign for additional gender neutral spaces?
Why not campaign for men to make shared spaces safer?
Why not acknowledge safeguarding as a shared problem?

I recall some stats a few years ago about g rls giving up sport n droves in their teens and d scomfort with chang ng fac lities was sited as a cause I don't think that reaction is uncommon for adolescent girls.

Laurie Penny @PennyRed Jun 29

Of course but s trans women n women's chang ng fac lities the root of that discomfort? Seems ke the problem s misogyny, and the atrocious way all women are taught to be ashamed of their bodies.

Replying to @PennyRed @Bernard Flesh

The root cause is biological males entering spaces where young girls are vulnerable and in a state of undress. The whole of society knows this is wrong. This is why males are excluded from such spaces.

The idiots are in control of the world now. My sister is a paediatric an close to retirement fortunately, and she is oft lectured by midwifes who assert that the baby's gender should only be determined when the BABY decides We've bred imbeciles.

Andrea Dworkin "Right Wing Women" 1983

So the woman hangs on, not with the delicacy of a clinging vine, but with a tenacity incredible in its intensity, to the very persons, institutions, and values that demean her, degrade her, glorify her powerlessness, insist upon constraining and paralyzing the most honest expressions of her will and being. She becomes a lackey, serving those who ruthlessly and effectively aggress against her and her kind. This singularly self-hating loyalty to those committed to her own destruction is the very essence of womanhood as men of all ideological persuasions define it.

The left have betrayed women on this issue, in all Western countries, but while the right media are reporting on it in Australia, the powers that be that COULD do something, are not. Not yet, anyway. Sport will open Australia's eyes to gender ideology I suspect.

Male bodied prisoners, many with a history of sexual violence against females, should never be housed with female prisoners. If your "feminism" ends up arguing they should, then it's not really feminism at all. Time for a rethink?

2 · 8 · 39

Tine Hanrieder @HanriederTine · 10h

ok. but how did we end up pitching identities against each other instead of advocating, for instance, for prison reform?

Colin Wight @colwight · 10h

My guess? By thinking that identities were more important than materiality, rather than dealing with them as as important.

Tine Hanrieder @HanriederTine · 10h

hmm, no intention to deny materiality. still from all I understand, this dichotomy is misleading. changing gender is not like getting a new haircut. it is a long and bodily transition and pathologized and criminalized along the way, even with new legislation

David doesn't understand logic

They seem to have latched on to the word "decide" and have a problem with that. I suppose, like all faith based beliefs there was no decision, as that's not how indoctrination and radicalisation works. You don't decide to believe in God, or to be GC, as neither involves logic.

I don't think the problems we are seeing with the implementation of gender theory into policy are "unintended". The Denton's document outlines clearly that they seek chaos and seek to undermine societal structures etc. They just don't care about the impact of consequences.

And what about the rules that it is illegal for men to expose their genitals to children? Does that rule now suddenly cease to apply because the male says he is a woman?

No a male with intact genitalia is a man. Because they are male But a woman is a woman. I've been quite clear on that. Are you arguing that women should be forced into a males locker room?

What is a woman to you Zach? The male with his penis out at a the spa is a man and had no place in the women's section He belongs in the men's. Glad we cleared that up Taunting....exactly right. Goading them into a response, then shrieking "victim" and whining to the police when the person defends themselves and fights back. It's DARVO on steroids. It's so horrifyingly antagonistic.

Let me perfectly clear:

Sexual violence survivors should be natural allies to the trans community. We understand the stakes of losing control of our bodies and being punished for breaking the gender rules. To be transphobic is to perpetrate those harms. And I won't tolerate it.

Plus the motley group of sad sacks, incel losers, screeching libfems and entitled uni students were hardly redolent of some sort of "resistance". If that's "antifa" then clearly the only advantage they have is being a violent mob.

Good luck with that long term strategy.

You weren't born innately nonbinary. Your they/them pronouns are as natural as your blue hair & the tattoos on your arm. It's just another fashion accessory to signal to your woke tribe. I once identified with that tribe; now I see it's a joke (subtweet to a certain woke doctor)

I was born 10 weeks early I had no finger nails, toe nails, eyebrows, eye lashes etc Mum says "a the finishing touches weren't done yet"

And even though my parents didn't get to hold me until I was 2 weeks old, & I spent 2 months in an incubator

Everyone knew I was female

Clarify - the IOC is 10 nmol/L, which is not even mandatory testing...they rely on the athletes to adhere to it, but if they are tested and fail then they get suspended for 12 months. What a gift to those who seek to exploit shoddy policy for performance advantage.

Ok, looked up some info. It seems that I was wrong and male athletes do have an advantage in archery due to height and pull strength/arm length.

> to shed some light on this good question!
> Men and women compete separately in individual archery competition because men's scores are typically higher. For example, the new WRs are 700 (male) and 673 (female).
> This is in large part due to the men having higher arrow speeds. Higher speed leads to higher scores because higher arrow speed = less wind interference + more forgiveness for form mistakes As such, men don't have to account for the wind as much or be as precise with their movements. (They're still REALLY precise though!)
> So how do men get this higher arrow speed? Two major reasons
> - longer arms = longer draw length (basically how far you can pull back the bow)
> - stronger muscles = able to handle higher draw weight (basically how much force the arrows leaves the bow with)
> So in conclusion, different physiologies require

we seriously need to dedramatize hormones (and stop gatekeeping them). it's not a big deal, take some if you want! stop taking them if you want! it's not a problem of morality, but desire. the body can change hormonal balance, that's what an endocrine system is for. enjoy it!

> Emily Zhou @emializh · 23h

As far as I can tell, the outcome here comes down to what is meant by "actual or perceived gender identity or expression."

2 3 51

Kara Dansky @KDansky · Jul 6

DC law defines it as "a gender-related identity, appearance, expression, or behavior of an individual, regardless of the individual's assigned sex at birth."

2 2 44

Kara Dansky @KDansky · Jul 6

So, if the D.C. Office of Human Rights decides that a person "is transgender" based on that person's self-described "gender-related identity," it appears likely that he will win the civil case, regardless of what happens in the criminal case.

2 4 55

Kara Dansky @KDansky · Jul 6

Bottom line: We don't really know how all of this is going to work out. It seems possible that he could both win his civil complaint and be convicted of a crime). All I know for sure is that we will keep fighting. /End

I do find it odd that there are groups of people who are arguing against traditional "gender roles" For example females looking after children but then also arguing that males are a risk.

What s the solution?

Apply safeguarding unilaterally as is the current situation. Normal safe guarding for children doesn t distinguish between men and women. There isn t less safeguarding that needs to be done for a woman working with kids than for a man.

I wouldn't sign a petit on to ban males from competing in female sports but would sign a petition to allow the freedom to discriminate between sexes in sports organizations So that organ zations choose with freedom whether they want Unisex or sing e sex competitions

The organisations have already chosen. They have replaced the female category with mixed sex. So now we have mixed sex (females and failed males) and men's.

Their ignorance s embarrassing Semenya is biologically male with undescended testes and Y chromosomes No woman has T levels over 5 nmol/L Unless they have a hormonal disorder, such as PCOS, which would hinder their ability to compete at elite level

And even 5nmol/L is the absolute extreme upper limit very few women w PCOS would have levels that high And of course there is a lot more to the sporting advantage these athletes have over females than their current T levels

Very very true. It's why T levels are an imperfect way of delineating. The line should simply be only biological females playing in women and girls category.

Sigh

We are not looking at suicide rates nationally

We are looking at the impact of a specific treatment decision upon the health of a tiny, often hated minority

National differences may result in different overall numbers but probably not differences in direction.

Jenny Fitz @JennyFitz2000 Jul 9
How many British trans kids have to attempt suicide before you start to reevaluate your advocacy for a policy that caused large jumps in suicide attempts elsewhere?

John Imrie @johnimrie10 Jul 9
But the. admittedly low quality. data on outcomes doesn t support your theory that trans kids without affirmation are more likely to commit or attempt to commit suicide than those who where affirmed.

National Truffle @Dauntus Jul 9
For that we have the many testimonials of survivors sharing their stories of self harm, attempts, and the relief brought on by affirmative therapies. Until the data is better the people who have gone through it are the experts here.

But lived experience is not “expertise” or reliable evidence. Until we have proper, credible medical research that clearly demonstrates what the TRAs are claiming, they cannot rely on it as a valid argument.

These people need to start providing evidence of "lives lost". If a child has died as a direct result of the Tavistock decision, let's hear it. Susie Green of @Mermaids_Gender foreshadowed an epidemic of suicide yet it's seven months later...and nothing? STOP weaponising suicide.

This is in itself unforgivable That many were of colour however clearly foregrounds the insincerity of their anti-racism and the lie of their attempts to dismiss these concerns as "white feminism "

Vivienne Carole @CaroleVivienne 2m

The whole trans movement is racist They're the ones that bring race into it as if fighting for women was only about white women It's all about silencing women By attempting to discount white women, they are trying to create division among the GC crowd. But we're not buying it.

The 'highly qualified psychologists and psychiatrists' you allude to are part of a small coterie of critics vehemently opposed to medical care for trans teens often for ideological or religious reasons.

Neither have the AUSPATH been peer-reviewed. They are simply touted as “best practice”. I could sit here and waste time adding links to peer-reviewed evidence criticising these practices, but I’m not going to bother. This is the biggest medical scandal of the 21stC.

The Australian Family Court has accepted Dr Telfer's evidence and programme.

The RCH standard has become the national Australian standard

Those standards where reviewed by RACP without changes.

Seems like very few agree with you or this alleged 'meticulous' critique

Those cases are not precedent. I'll tell you why, because they only considered evidence from Telfer's side, no counter-evidence whatsoever. They are also labouring under erroneous beliefs such as PBs are reversible. Those cases will eventually be overturned.

The NPR podcast Believed about the Larry Nassar case is really good

Another recommendation is Finding Cleo, which follows a Cree family's search for their missing sister who was taken into government care, as part of the Sixties Scoop in Canada

I hear what you are saying here, no offence was intended! I think the point was to "localise" the resistance to NZ. I read up on Scots language after reading the Outlander series (my ancestors are Scottish), so I will be mindful to respect my Scottish sisters in future.

The most "vulnerable, oppressed and marginalised" argument isn t really holding up anymore.

government departments and private sector are pushing through all sorts of pro-gender policies. Correct on, some states, VIC, are really pushing it but federal parliament is largely ignoring the problem, as is our media. Scot govt is a nightmare Sturgeon has betrayed women.

How disastrous is the Andrews regime? Pushing the trans agenda into every area of life And now blowing $50 million of taxpayers $$s on the Trans Commissioner's vanity project in St Kilda! A concrete multi glory hole! How many actual homeless women cld have been housed for that?!

What is a "transwoman" Deborah? It's concerning an MP is openly in thrall to an ideology.

The most harrowing aspect of being a "Public Terf" isn't the threats & abuse. It's the heartbreaking stories from strangers about how trans self ID & the grooming of kids is impacting on women & children. Victims hope someone will speak up because they feel powerless & scared

A "felt, internal and individual experience" is a feeling, an emotion, a mood Not grounded in material reality whatsoever

The way to deflate it is to push for clarity and objective proof This is delusion and mental illness.

A "felt, internal and individual experience" is a feeling, an emotion, a mood. Not grounded in material reality whatsoever

The way to deflate it is to push for clarity and objective proof. This is delusion and mental illness.

It's a luxury, first world belief. I'm in lockdown with three little girls, homeschooling and trying to WFH while my partner does long hours out of the house running his business. I wish I had the time to navel gaze about my inner-felt sense of "gender"

Milli, you obviously haven't learned from the response @jk_rowling got from her post. You aren't incorrect that obstetric violence is sex-based. But how difficult is it to acknowledge that not everyone who is capable of giving birth, identifies with the female or woman label?

> Milli Hill @mi_h Jul 10

@katherine_deves says we need to get sex and gender defined properly in law. I also think we need to hijack this proposed religious protection legislation into rights of speech and assembly on beliefs including scientific, moral and political belief

BrettG @brettg1974 · 8m

Yes, I think that's right

Without accurate, reality based definitions, we'll never get anywhere. The whole ideology is based on blurring categories and insane definitions like in the VIC conversion therapy law just enable that.

I can compromise on quite a bit, but never on necessary legal distinction between biological sex and trans identity. This distinction underpins so many other laws that enable males unfair access to women's space

We need to reestablish the primacy of "sex" as the protected characteristic in Australian law. We all agree no one should be discriminates against for being GNC, but that should not replace, displace or override sex.

@katherine_deves says we need to get sex and gender defined properly in law. I also think we need to hijack this proposed religious protection legislation into rights of speech and assembly on beliefs including scientific, moral and political belief

BrettG @brettg1974 11m

Yes, I think that s right
Without accurate, reality based definitions, we'll never get anywhere The whole ideology is based on blurring categories and insane definitions like in the VIC conversion therapy law just enable that.

femmehonnete @femmehonnete1 7m

I can compromise on quite a bit, but never on necessary legal distinction between biological sex and trans identity. This distinction underpins so many other laws that enable males unfair access to women's space

The very moment 'transwomen are women' is law, we lose say in all the rest

TRAs are always going on about "trans rights" so I ask them what they mean when they say it. In Australia, they enjoy exactly the same rights as everyone else. IMO they are "demands" - that women accommodate them & that society goes along with their self-declared identities.

which includes rescission, restoring the parties to the position they were in prior to the entry into the contract. Spousal veto is arguably the mechanism that provides a "rescission" option to a person when their spouse decides to identify as the other sex.

You're right, excuse that phrasing. I should have put it in inverted commas spousal "veto" rather it's a spousal consent to remain in the marriage

Transwomen are women
Transwomen can be lesbian

Transmen are men
Transmen can be gay

No amount of co-opted ribbons or shouting "man" (or "woman"?) at the trans community is going to change this

I bristled at that, I admit. I've still got to work another 10 years to survive, and I'm 62 now. I know I'm dismissed as some ancient creature, a brain dead object taking up space. And I don't like it.

Women and men at midlife are so different.

My observation is men flounder as women take back their power after years of doing their emotional & child rearing labor, and women rediscover themselves and a new robust resilience outside family demands & the male gaze.

Edie Wyatt @msediewyatt · 11m

All the years I was working in our business, because it was practical for children, my husband has encouraged me to "do my thing". He meant the political and cultural studies I loved at uni, I thought "who even knows who Foucault is?" Now at 50 I'm taking up my pen again.

Interesting thing about defamation in the UK, if you're broke it's very unlikely a lawyer would recommend taking action against you. In that situation the pursuant would likely be spending over £100k and not get any of it back even if they win, no guarantee of an apology either

For the sake of understanding these issues, quite a ot hangs on the answers. think Equestrian sport s unproblematic, but perhaps the only one Maybe sailing
Shooting is interesting and complicated, also motor racing But standard athletic sports are a long way away

1 19

Alan Levinovitz @A anLevinovitz 24h

It's not just "sports" in general though There's the question of what level, what age, etc. And I don t want to risk flattening these issues through an extended Twitter discussion

Alan Levinovitz @A anLevinovitz 23h

There s also the Q of how sports interacts symbolically with society more broadly, how we th nk about nclusivity. All of these Qs influence our decisions about what to a ow why allow glasses contact lenses, and ask, giving naturally inferior athletes a massive advantage?

Including males in the female sports category excludes women and girls. This is how we deal with “inclusivity” -men need to be more inclusive of gender non-conforming males instead of expecting women’s sports to become a dumping group for mediocre and weak men.

How is it “biased”? You seem to be confusing “did not like” with bias. To accuse three UK HC judges of “bias”, including the Queen’s Bench President, is extremely serious.

Simple, straightforward question. Asked a million t mes by a m llion people, yet NEVE R any answer other than "shut up, TERF, your question is literally k lling trans people."

It's not a simple straightforward question, the quest on itself has loaded terms "man dentifying as a woman" and vice versa removes the agency of trans people to help dent fy as the opposite sex, or anything n between as wel because you're a.so invalidat ng enbies as well

It is a simple straight forward question. Sex is immutable, observable and objective. Identity is subjective, culturally relative, based on feelings and performance of stereotypes. You are deliberately conflating the two to obstruct women's rights to have boundaries.

I suppose I should have prefaced with: do you believe trans people when they tell you they're trans b/c the answer from you would be no

The Cis men/women pretending to be transgender in order to sneak into locker rooms to see children are criminals

airburst95 @airburst95 1h

If you're denying the reality that there's a difference between actual trans people and criminals trying to be predators then you're being transphobic

This question is therefore loaded

No. It's EXACTLY how it sounds. Not "loaded" at all.
There is NO objective criteria whatsoever to distinguish bt TW & "man claiming he is a woman." We're told to take their word for it. It means any "cis" men who say "I'm woman" get in too.
But women s claims are dismissed as lies.

So close to getting it, but can't quite shake the gender woo.

It is regressive, harmful & sexist to teach a child they "ARE" the opposite sex because they like toys, colours or clothes that are currently reserved for the opposite sex.

Whatever happened to letting kids be kids?

of story. You can say 'man' and whatever when talking about the sport but it doesn't hurt you, or your point, to use she/her. Just do the same for everyone

Concertina Louvres @C..ouvres · 20h

The fact is that Hubbard is a man, that matters to the conversation. I don't think I've used pronouns (intentionally to avoid 'offence') but to say 'she' should compete in the mens category is nonsensical. It's fudging the obvious truth. Sex matters. Gender is meaningless in sport

1 · 5 · 24

mouncey @mcyg323 · 20h

cool, dont use the wrong pronouns because its downright offensive and transphobic. kind of like how allowing her to compete in the womens section is pretty much misogynistic. Shes also not a man, she WAS a man and that's the problem. Her body is still affected from when she was

Ms. not Mrs. @DropTheR · 10h

Hubbard is still a man. He will forever be a man. Biology is transphobic. Trying to control others' speech is futile.

1 · 30

mouncey @mcyg323 · 10h

She isnt a man anymore. Why cant you accept that? It doesn't hurt you to accept that people are transgender so why do you intentionally misgender? You know all it does is hurt people but you still do it.

How is this not a form of madness? If there s enough demand for trans sports activit es, OK fine But, otherwise let girls sports be what it has been. It took a long time in coming Now, is not the time to subvert it

No one is interested in watching males compete against fema es in sports If they did the money people wou d have organised a ready

There are intramura sports like softball which are probably as socia as athletic Ditto for sa ing The only sport where true equality might exist m ght be a very long distance endurance race would think curling might be another but the market for that is nonexistent

If people consciously choose to sign up for a mixed sex sport, that is one thing. But males physiology means they hold performance advantage in strength, stamina, size and speed for every single sport except equestrian, rhythmic gymnastics and ultra marathon.

You are talking about a woman as a person, congratulations. We are talking about biological sex, of which there are two - male & female, upon which sports categories are divided. Feelings and identity do not dictate your sex. Feelings and identities do not play sport. Bodies do.

I don't know who to credit this to, but bravo!

WOMEN ARE NOT A SOCIAL CONSTRUCT.

TO DECLARE THE ENTIRE FEMALE SEX A SOCIAL CONSTRUCT IS TO CLAIM THAT WOMEN WERE CREATED BY MEN WHO HAVE FOR CENTURIES DOMINATED AND CONTROLLED CULTURE.

IT'S POSSIBLY THE GREATEST REVERSAL THAT WOMEN WERE BIRTHED FROM MEN'S IMAGINATION, AND THE STEREOTYPES THEY CREATED ARE REALITY THAT GENDER A FANTASY, IS MATERIAL, AND WOMEN IMMATERIAL.

MEN ARE MADE IN THE BODIES OF WOMEN
WOMEN WERE NOT MADE IN THE MINDS OF MEN.

WE ARE WOMEN-BORN, NOT MAN-MADE.

Segregating sport by sex is not remotely the same thing as what you are referring to. Males have a performance advantage due to their androgenised physique, having female only category enables women to compete, otherwise we would only ever see males taking the podium.

Trans women are women misgendering trans people doesn't help anyone

And bigotry doesn't help when trying to have a rational debate about whether trans women should compete with other women in the olympics that was my original point

Rod Langlands @rlanglands1 10h

'TWAW' What did they 'transition' from? Just mindlessly repeating that nonsense mantra still leaves you facing the problem (for you) of defining woman

I'm assuming you don't really like trans people then Rod

So can assume I'm correct in that you just don't like trans people? I bet you don't like gay people either, what about black people?

'Trans' people are not a monolith, despite you consistently grouping entire sections of people together ('gay', 'black' etc). Some DO feel demonised by being accurately sexed, none I've heard from have legitimate, objective reasons, though. They just want their 'feelings' to win.

Agreed. But I think there's a case for looking again at some sports. I'm no expert, but do archery or BMX really need to be sex segregated? Is segregation here just not reviewing past inequalities?

> Katherine Deves @katherine_deves
> Allowing male born athletes to compete in the female category excludes women and girls from their own sports.

> Should women be banned from having female only sports?

Katherine Deves @katherine_deves · 23h

Segregating sport by sex is not remotely the same thing as what you are referring to. Males have a performance advantage due to their androgenised physique, having female only category enables women to compete, otherwise we would only ever see males taking the podium.

Stroppy Ambo Woman @Stroppyambo · 14h

Completely agree; we definitely need to keep women's sports single sex (not gender). I just don't understand why some sports are sex segregated (and I'm prepared to be wrong)

The only sports women have an advantage are artistic such as rhythmic gymnastics or ultra endurance such as ultra-marathon. Everything else male physiology confers an advantage.

"Dealt a trickier hand", compared to what? The 8 year old Yemen girl married off to a 60 year old because her family is starving? The young girl pimped out by her father during COVID? The girls in Nigerian slums trading sex for sanitary items? Honestly, get some perspective.

There are five plausible medalists especially looking at Entry rifts Li WenWen s assured gold, frankly, unless she gets injured

After that it's a four way bunfight between Emily Campbell (GBR), Robles (USA), Lee (KOR) and Hubbard with Robles the slight edge

My daughter and I were just talking about American Girl Dolls. I commented that she never really played with them. And she told me that that's because early on, she left them alone in a room overnight to see if they would move. And they did

We were told wee was the way to go when we were kids, but here in Australia we are now advised hot water immersion for 60-90 minutes, which is a bit more sanitary. Unless it's the box jellyfish, in which case you'll probably die.

Gender rules on appearance and behaviour seem more extreme than in the 70s 80s. 90s. Media had a role. We also have more societal misogyny e.g upskirting, greater access to unrealistic porn depictions

5.1 As a general guiding principle for the Association's eligibility guidelines, the Association supports the following statement from Creating Inclusive Environments for Trans Participants in Competition Sport:

> Based on the background and available evidence, the Expert Working Group felt that trans athletes should be able to participate in the gender with which they identify regardless of whether or not they have undergone hormone therapy. Exceptions could be made if a sport organization is able to provide evidence that demonstrates hormone therapy is a reasonable and bona fide requirement (i.e., a necessary response to a legitimate need) to create a fair playing field at the high performance level (p. 48).

5.2 At both recreational and competitive levels in Competition under Archery Canada jurisdiction, an individual may participate in the gender category of their choosing. Individuals who identify as a girl or woman are eligible to compete in girls' or women's and mixed teams for such events. Individuals who identify as a boy or a man are eligible to compete in boys' or men's and mixed teams for such events. All identifications of gender identity or expression by our athletes are believed to be made in good faith and do not require further disclosure or documentation.

5.3 Individuals are not required to disclose their trans identity or history to the Association or any of the Association's representatives (e.g., coaches, staff, directors, officials, etc.).

5.4 All athletes must be aware that they may be subject to doping control testing pursuant to the Canadian Anti-Doping Program. Senator Claire Chandler is a marvel.

Australian Liberal Party endorses women sex based rights at both state and national level.

Now we need to lobby the ALP to repeal and withdraw all the pro-gender identity policy and legislation that harms women and girls.

It's not "large, difficult and complex", female sports for females only.

TWAW is an ideological belief that most people do not hold. Men are not women, and women are certainly not a hormone level and a feeling in a man's head.

@ABCaustralia looks more and more ridiculous and out of touch by digging in their heels and refusing to admit these sports policies are blatantly unfair to women and girls. @TraceyLeeHolmes did you bother to think about the impact on female athletes?

The tide is absolutely turning in our favour, as the other side get more desperate they will make more outlandish claims, which peaks more and more people. I have no doubt we will prevail - public sentiment, fairness, sanity, reason and science are on our side.

All the other side have are ideological exhortations, hurt feelings and bleats about "Inclusion, Diversity, Equality", but when you analyse those principles it's the inverse i.e. inclusion of biological males in female sports means exclusion of women and girls.

Why can't you respect women's sport? And respect that most people do not go along with ludicrous notion that humans cannot change sex, or agree that a male with a female gender identity should compete in women's sports?

The 'anti conversion' bill introduced into Vic Parlmt last year was targeting religious faith groups. Many MP's belong to a church group. This bill eradicates religious rights to discriminate against 'lgbTTIq+', so conversion of a persons Self ID will be illegal by faith groups

Sex is not a protected attribute in the Act. Gender is, but it's not defined. Gender identity is defined but based on sex. Sex is not defined. Hope that clears it up!

portraits of groups which simply do not agree with the dogma that the self D trans project is a[illegible]pside & involves no conflict of rights for others notably women, girls & LGB people

Fair Play For Women

A UK based organization formed in 2017 with the express purpose of fighting against transgender equality Fair Play For Women works to restrict transgender women's access to sports, women's prisons, and women's restrooms and changing rooms The group has also fought to oppose more widespread inclusive trans policies, such as changes to the UK's Gender Recognition Act that would make the process of name changes easier for trans people.

Save Women's Sports

An American group founded in 2019 Save Women's Sports resembles Fair Play For Women in that it is almost unilaterally focused on banning transgender women and girls from being able to train qualify and compete in women's categories. Save Women's Sports founde Beth Stelzer has spoken at events organized by the Family Policy Alliance and Heritage Foundation

Women's Sports Policy Working Group

Founded in early 202[illegible] by former athletes , including former Olympians and sports management analysts, none of whom are transgender The group relies on insufficient data to reach its policy recommendations, disagrees with current NCAA and IOC standards, and inaccurately claims that trans girls and women have an inherent athletic advantage against their cisgender peers, a claim at odds with science and evidence in real world competition

Sex would have a meaning in common law though, wouldn't it? So is it not the case that if a piece of legislation fails to define something, then established common law definitions will apply?

You would think so, but not necessarily. Man and woman definitions (female/male irrespective of age) were removed from the SDA to accommodate "Transwomen". We need new legislation or a High Court case to clarify.

Question. Plenty seem up in arms about those from the intersex and trans communities competing in women's events at #Tokyo2020. But I'm sensing a little misogyny that no one would worry if a trans man were to compete as if oestrogen etc doesn't confer any benefits. thoughts?

This campaign of misinformation drives me crazy - Mboma is a biological male with a DSD that caused them to be wrongly assigned female at birth. Y chromosome, testes and male testosterone levels. Not female. Not a "so-called DSD". Lazy, uninformed journalism.

From what I can see, Hubbard has asked, not demanded. The IOC and policymakers are the ones who are to blame. That's all I meant re: demonising ndividua s over policy. Hubbard even felt the pressure & avoided public life because t was so awkward. I am saying empathise.

One would have thought there were a few arenas that remain sacred - the motherbaby dyad and breastfeeding mothers should one be of them. Mother. Woman. Breast. Breastmilk. These are not dirty words.

Chestfeeding. Pregnant Person. Human Milk. Gestating Parent. This is erasure of women from the process of human reproduction, and our rightful place as mothers. Who is benefitting from this horrible distortion of language?

Katherine Deves @katherine_deves · 33m

Why are the tiny number of women who do suffer gender dysphoria and become pregnant, needing specialised care and compassion, being weaponised in this toxic debate?

Katherine Deves @katherine_deves · 33m

Could it be the men who wish to feed infants using a chemically and artificially hormonally induced excretion? Like the one who filmed himself doing so and shared it online recently? Because in any other context this would be sexual abuse and exploitation of babies.

Why is this being promoted and celebrated by the ABA? @OzBreastfeeding Gender Identity Ideology is being utilised as a cover for predatory males to indulge their sick behaviour. Women and children are not your props.

When reality and Twitter collide it is very amusing, but if the shopowner refused entry or service to the customer on the basis of trans, it could be unlawful discrimination depending on local laws, and that could bring the shopowner a world of pain.

Of course everyone's experience is different. But that does not mitigate the fact that separating an infant from its mother is inhumane, and that breastfeeding is best for baby.

McDonald Laurier, extremely well respected & credible 🇨🇦 institute, did a poll that demonstrated 4 out 5 Canadians do not believe males should compete in the female sports category. It's not unreasonable to assume it would be similar or > for prisons.

Joanna Harper now accepts that transition leaves residual male advantage but she thinks it's OK if that advantage is not 'overwhelming', and allows 'meaningful' competition.
I think she's wrong. Here's why:

15 102 534

Katherine Deves @katherine_deves · 22h
So now that the evidence shows that artificially reducing testosterone does NOT mitigate advantage, Harper is now arguing some advantage is okay provided it's not "overwhelming" & allows "meaningful" competition. So who decides the meaning of those two words? Harper?

5 7 106

Jon Pike @runthinkwrite · 19h
Harper has stipulated (I understand) that it is a matter of a 15% advantage.
It will be obvious that there is no justification for (or against) this. There's no reasoning at all. It's difficult to know what to say about it, except 'why?' says who?'
It's not reasoned policy.

So this is a biological woman who now says that she is a man?

I would have no problem w/ them continuing to compete against women, but have they been on drug regimen which would otherwise be considered "performance enhancing"? I.e testosterone, etc, which other women cant take?

Nolan @smalls96 15h

Don't believe they've ever identified as a man, no. They're non-binary. And the olympics do indeed limit the testosterone levels of athletes in woman's sports. Controversially forcing certain female athletes to take drugs to suppress their T levels in order to compete

Australian federal & state law have “gender identity” & “transgender”. Definitions are incoherent & absurd, it’s a big mess, they should be withdrawn. GNC people have protection under sex discrimination law for not performing sex specific stereotypes - no need for GI protections.

It used to be that doctors wouldn't tie the tubes of women in their 20s after childbirth because they knew they would often change their minds

Now our political leaders and woke doctors say that 12 year-olds can make these decisions

Children cannot consent to self-harm.

My sister had her tubes tied in her 30s after 5 children. Regretted it, reversed it & had 2 more children. She's a doctor. She made a rash decision & regretted it. Luckily it was reversible. Sterility isn't reversible & children & young adults can't comprehend the consequences.

PHOENIX ANDREWS says Maya Forstater has made the UK a more difficult place t

DOES WHAT MAYA Forstater said in a series of tweets about trans women being men demonstrate hate speech?

That, for me, is the nub of the argument about whether she should have been allowed to keep her job or not. In the UK, under Section 4 of the Public Order Act 1986, language is criminalised if someone "uses towards another person threatening, abusive or insulting words or behaviour, or displays to another person any writing, sign or other visible representation which is threatening, abusive or insulting" if the target believes that language is intended to cause or provoke unlawful violence.

As relatives to hate crime, the Crown Prosecution Service says: "There is no legal definition of hostility so we use the everyday understanding of the word.

As a trans person, I find Forstater's words to be abusive and insulting, and at times threatening – at least in the abstract – towards large parts of the trans community in general. They are hostile, unfriendly and prejudiced and demonstrate antagonism, unwell and dislike.

The trickier part is whether someone who sees or hears what she has to say believes it will cause or provoke unlawful violence. Indeed, the first employment tribunal judge ruled that what Forstater tweeted was not hate speech exactly but was "incompatible with human dignity and fundamental rights of others" and that her words did "not have the protected characteristic of philosophical belief" under the the Equality Act 2010.

As with many examples of offensive speech, people are going to argue about

Australian federal & state law have "gender identity" & "transgender" Definitions are incoherent & absurd It's a big mess. they should be withdrawn. GNC people have protection under sex discrimination law for not performing sex specific stereotypes no need for GI protections

TBF people with trans identity who can face discrimination in housing, employment for being GNC etc but they could be protected under sex discrimination law without having to create entirely new (incoherent) category of gender identity in legislation

Gender identity legislation covers all those not identifying as Man or Woman thus also those identifying as non-binary.
It's the Queer Community not those of us squeezed into the letters LGBT who recognise the validity and reality of sex.
Start addressing Queer Politics.

That is the way the IOC Consensus is written, no mandated testing, just that they "may" be tested - someone else said "honour system", a good way to describe it. I also query what "declaring a female gender identity" means, how do you prove it? What qualifies as evidence?

2. Those who transition from male to female are eligible to compete in the female category under the following conditions:

   2.1 The athlete has declared that her gender identity is female. The declaration cannot be changed, for sporting purposes, for a minimum of four years.

   2.2. The athlete must demonstrate that her total testosterone level in serum has been below 10 nmol/L for at least 12 months prior to her first competition (with the requirement for any longer period to be based on a confidential case-by-case evaluation, considering whether or not 12 months is a sufficient length of time to minimize any advantage in women's competition).

This was excellent up until the point where she called "cislesbians" "transphobic" for having boundaries.

For someone clearly so bright, she seems to have left her impressive critical thinking faculties at the door on that issue.

I mean the 'right' to enter female sports events despite having been male for much of their lives. Many people think this is fair. Even the IOC was celebrating it as 'diversity'. I have a live and let live attitude to trans but everything has limits

They are still male. No human can change sex. Most people do not think this is fair, the polls in UK, US, Canada and Ireland say as much. The IOC have stated their Consensus is "not fit for purpose". It is only very few, self-interested and powerful, who think this is "fair".

Not everything that exists is materia In fact, some of the most causally powerfu things aren't materia at all. And yes Gender exists and t exerts an ncredibly powerfu nfluence on our lives. If it didn t what are gender critical feminists so critica of?

Siobhan Scullion @sc y1066 1h

What is called gender is a non evidence based collect on of restrictive roles & naratives ascribed to sexes that sort human the sexes into a higher and lower status role

If enough people accept th s narative it can be used as an oppressive too t doesn t make t true or real

Colin Wight @colwight 1h

Why are you conflating true with real? Gender is rea. Gender roles exist Otherwise what are gender crit cal feminists critica. of? You can't be critical of something that doesn't exist

I couldn't imagine telling one of the young women (16-18yo) on my caseload that they have to share their refuge with a man. If not, they're out. I work with young women who were placed in OOHC very young and sexually abused by their Forster guardians

They have completely lost sight of their purpose - it is not to make the careers and fund the salaries of the professional class of SJW, it is to serve those who seek their support and assistance.

Our core value is women, but we also service men and boys?

This egregious betrayal of vulnerable and distressed women is breathtaking, to wilfully callously ignore and dismiss the needs of these women is absolutely unforgivable.

Product Description

When we make claims to each other, we're asserting. But what does it take to assert well? Do we need to know what we're talking about? This book argues that we don't. In fact, it argues that in some special contexts, we can lie.

About the Author

Rachel McKinnon is an Assistant Professor in the Philosophy Department at the College of Charleston, USA. There is very clear and credible evidence that demonstrates males retain a performance advantage after testosterone suppression. It is simply idiotic to posit that males are not faster, bigger, stronger and larger.
